ous pieces of work represents the three he evens. In one Christ is gathering His flock; then we have the three hundred Capuchins with harps, and in the last is the throne with archangels surrounding it. The task of executing these pen pictures, as well as all the ornamental writing, devolved upon the sisters, several of whom devoted their entire time to it. A particular room called "Schreib Zimmer." or writing room, was used for this purpose

Stepping over into the Sister house. chance may bring you into contact with the venerable Sarah Bauman, now past three score. Her face is the idealization of peace, purity and contentment, and her conversation is beautiful with wisdom and godliness. She will point you with pride to the work of two sisters, Anastasia and Iphigenia, which is a large alphabet book executed in ink, and completed in 1750. There is no question as to the attistic merit of the volume. One letter occupies a page, which is surrounded with an ornate border of unique design. The letters are Gothic, and after a hundred and thirty years the lines are almost as sharp as copper plate engraving.

The burying-ground of the association adjoins the public road. Time, like a considerate mother, has thrown over the sleepers her green garment of moss and lichen. The Dunkers' manner of sculpture was somewhat singular. Their dead were buried in close contact and in small groups. The cemetery is dotted all over with these mounds. Beissel lies under a huge slab, the inscriptions on which are almost effaced. The Fahnestocks have erected a tombstone to "Deidrich and Margaretta, father and mother of the tribe of Fahnestocks," who emigrated from Prussia. All the inscriptions are in German and begin with " Hier Ruhen." A quarter of a mile to the west of the association's grounds is a little knoll whereon the Konigmachers and other public spirited Baptists placed in course of erection a sandstone monument in memory of the soldiers of the Revolution who died there. After the battle of Germantown several hundred of the wounded were transported to Ephrata, where they met with kindly nursing at the hands of these people. At least one hundred and fifty of the soldiery succumbed from wounds and sickness and were hastily interred at various points around this locality. The base of the monument was erected twenty years ago, when, the enthusiasm and wherewithal having evaporated, its completion was deferred. The stone for the shaft are still lying around, a number of the slabs being dressed ready for setting.

THE DOCTORS.

Meeting of the Medical Society. The Lancaster city and county medical society met in Grand Army hall yesterday afternoon, President Thompson, of Wrightsville in the chair.

Owing to the fact that a number of the members of the society are is attendance at the medical congress in New York, the neeting was smaller than small, the folowing members only being bresent:

Drs. Blackwood, Compton, A. J. Herr, Roland and Welchans, of the city; Drs. Buckius and Craig, of Columbia; Drs. B. F. Herr and M. L. Davis, of Millersville ; Drs. Black and Weaver, of Strasburg; Drs. Roebuck, of Lititz; Kendig, of Saunga ; J. H. Davis, of Soudersburg ; Livingston, of Mountville; Kohler, of New Holland; F. M. Musser, of Witmer, and Trabert, of Reamstown.

The delegates who attended the late state convention held at Altoona made their report, in which it was stated that the next meeting of the state society would be held in this city on the second Wednesday of May, 1881.

Several interesting cases in practice were discussed and the reports made by members showed that there are no epidemics prevailing either in city or county. _Several other important matters which were to have been discussed were postponed, owing to the absence of members. A number of new members were elected and the society adjourned to meet on the first Wednesday in July.

Sudden Death of an Estimable Man. The Hagerstown Globe says: "Mr. Henry Bair, of Lancaster county, Pa., who has been spending the past two weeks in our county, on a visit to his son, Mr. Adam Bair, died suddenly Saturday evening at the residence of the latter, four miles north of town. Mr. Bair had been on Friday morning around among his friends, and that even ing partook of a hearty supper at the residence of Mr. Christian Eby, near Morgantown. About an hour afterward he was taken seriously ill, passed into a state of unconsciousness, and, as above stated, died on Saturday evening of appoplexy. He was a prominent citizen of Lancaster county, and at the ripe old age of 81 years, has ended a life full of honesty, brightness and good deeds."

Improvements in Plated Goods. During the last ten years a great deal o! worthless stuff has been put on the market inder the name of plated ware. Hastily knocked together out of the poorest material and covered with a skimming of the thinnes film of silver, its only use has been to teach a esson to the people who thought they were securing bargains, because they paid but a small price for the showy articles they bought. The really good plated ware of to-day is a far better article than that of ten years ago. Improvements have been made in almost every branch of its manufacture. The metal which serves as its basis is harder and more durable than formerly. The joints are soldered and secured with greater strength. The silver plating is laid on in a better manner and altogether the fabric is more durable as well as more beautiful. Greater attention is paid to the superior quality in all these respects and the result is the production of an article which may be relied on, not only for ornament, but for every day use. Messrs. Bailey, Banks & Biddle, of 12th and Chestnut streets, Philadelphia, assured our correspondent that a piece of their plated ware will last

A Tumble in Linens.

DRY GOODS

Not many linens will be sold elsewhere till we have reduced our stock; for why should you pay a dollar when ninety cents will answer? We have been below the market all the year; and now are lower still. We point to a few samples: TABLE-LINEN.

Half-bleached damask, $6.50, .56, .62, .70, .80, .90, 1.00; each one is as good a linen as you can find elsewhere at the next higher price. Bleached damask, $0.50, .65, .75, .85, 1.00, 1.10, 1.25, 1.35, 1.50, 1.75, 2.00, 2.25; each one of these also is as good as you can find anywhere else at the next higher price; the last one, at $2.25, is now sold at wholesale, by one of the heaviest merchants in the country.

German damask, Napkins to match, Belgian damask, these last three are not to be found else where at any price.

2; inches square, $1.50; these cannot be matched anywhere else for a whit less than $2.00.

24 inches square, $1:75;

these are German goods, and are put up in half dozens. We could not buy them to-day to sell below $2.00 at the very least. 24 inches square, $2.25;

these are German also; they have no dressing; i.e., they look and feel the been selling them at $2.50; and they are worth it. We have been offered our price for the whole lot, but have kent them to you kept them for you

TOWELS. Damask, at 15 cents; beat them at 20 cents if you can. Damask, all white, 25 cents; have been selling at 31 cents; and we cannot buy them now to sell at 31; but you shall have them at 25.

German Damask, 31 cents; have been selling at 35 cents; we ought to put them up instead of down; but, re-member, we are reducing stock. Bleached diaper towel, 50 cents. the current price is 65 cents. Huck, knotted fringe, 25 cents.

Turkish, from 15 cents. SHEETING.

French, 72 inches' $0.90. French, 92 inches, $0.90, 1.10, 1.50; these ought to be compared with Irish linens at $2.00 to $2.50. They are equal in weight and strength, but not of quite so good a bleach. They are more like the Barnsley-bleach, but better than that.

French, 45 inches, $0.50, .62, .70, .80: French, 54 inches, $0.85, 1.00; these are the same as the Frenci: sheetings above. UNDERWEAR-LINEN-

PILLOW LINEN.

Old-fashioned Irish linen, yard wide, $0.25, .28, .31, .35, .40, .45, .50, .62, .70, .75, .80, .85; they were begun on our order a year and a-half ago. The old pro-cess of bleaching is a slow one. The goods are to our liking every way.

FLOOR-LINENS. Five yards wide, a single pattern only, $1.65; we ask you to notice it. 27 inches, for stairs, 12% cents; it will puzzle you to get it elsewhere at 25 cents.

These are few out of many. Our stock was never nearly so large; and we were never more fortunate in buying, either as to choice or price. The rise in linens has carried everybody above us ; we alone are anchored at low tide.

THE STRUGGLE FOR SEATS.

The Antl-Grant Men Buling the Credentials Committee.

The Unit Rule Broken

CHICAGO, June 3.-After conclusion of the hearing of the Illinois contest in the rules and order of business. Hale urged committee on credentials, at three o'clock that this convention is now ready for this morning a vote on the contest in the business [great applause] and hoped that Seventh district of Alabama was taken, resulting in resolving to report in favor of the admission of Gov. Smith and Willard Warner, the (anti-Grant) contestants, by a vote of 31 to 13.

General Raum, a member of the committee, who also acted as chairman of the Springfield convention, then addressed the committee on the Illinois contest. The committee finally adjourned at four o'clock until eleven to day without reacha vote in the Illinois case.

The Unit Rule Broken.

business, after a long session, agreed to a list of rules nearly the same as those adopted at Cincinnati in 1876, the principal difference being in rule No. 8, which reads: "In the record of votes by states the vote of each state and territory, and the District of Columbia, shall be announced by the chairman, and in case the votes of any state, territory or the District of Columbia shall be divided the chairman shall announce the number of votes cast for any candidate, or for or against any propositson, but if exception is taken by any delegate to the correctness of such announcement by the chairman of his delegation, the president of the convention shall direct the names of the members of such delegation to be called and the result to be recorded in accordance with the votes individually given. " The part of this rule from "but if exception," etc., is an addition which does away with the unit rule.

By the tenth rule it is provided that the Republican national committee shall consist of one member from each state, this doing away with the representation of territories and the District of Columbia ed seats. on this committee. Called to Order.

The convention was called to order at 11:45 a. m. The committee on creden-

Inter- to west, clear or partly cloudy weather. esting discussions are anticipated to-day, and the expectations are that there will be an earnest contest between the rival factions upon every point. It would be bazardous to predict the results, but it is believed the credential committee will admit at least 18 of the 20 contestants from Illinois who were admitted originally quently ousted. Senator Hoar called the convention to order at 11:45. He requested all others than members of the convention to withdraw from that part of the hall assigned to delegates and directed the sergeant-atarms to enforce the request. The aisles were cleared after some delay.

journ or take a recess till 6 p. m. Mr. Hale made the point of order that the motion was debatable. The chair sustained it. The question is now being debated. Hale in his speech holds that the convention must remain in a state of suspended animation until the committees are ready to report. Conkling followed Hale, claiming that it would facilitate the business of the convention to take the recess, and said it was not in order to proceed till the committee on credentials reported. Conkling's motion for a recess was lost. A Peculiar Proposition. Mr. Joy, of Michigan, offered a resolution that the contestants from the state of Illinois be heard in convention by counsel. A motion to lay it on the table was lost, and the roll of the states on Mr. Joy's motion was ordered.

Frye, of Maine, moved that the report of the committee on rules and order of business be requested. Sharpe, of New York, said that as there would be majority and minority reports he asked that it be delayed till the committee on credentials reported. Garfield said that under the agreement it would not render a report until the committee on credentials had reported unless ordered by the convention.

Conkling inquired whether the committee on contested [seats was read to report. The chair replied that he was told the committee was not ready nor likely to be ready before several hours, perhaps not before 4 p. m.

Conkling rising again was received with marked demonstrations of applause in the galleries. He said he also understood that the report could not be had from the credentials committee until late this afternoon; of course no business could proper-Linens are in the outer and nextly be done until that report should be received and the membership of the convention established; therefore he moved a recess until to-night. Hale asked Conkling to give way but he refused.

> motion to take a recess was debatable. The chair sustained this point of order. Mr. Hale rose to oppose the motion and was received with marked applause, which vention should this morning proceed to

He urged that there was business which the convention could do in advance of the report of the committee on credentials, and cited the proceedings of the convention of 1876, to show that much business was then transacted in advance of the report on contested seats. That committee then, as now, had much hard work, and the convention was permanently organized before it reported. The convention of 1876 had also acted on the report of the committee on it would not throw away its time, but go on with its immediate duties. Conkling rose to reply and was again applauded. Meantime the aisles had been filled again by spectators and the chair suspended business until they were again cleared.

Adjourned Until & P. M. At 1:10 p. m., Mr. Frye, of Maine, Blaine's henchman, moved that the convention take a recess until 5 p. m. The motion was carried.

Convention Notes. It has been arranged for Col. Ingersoll The sub-committee on rules and order of to present the claims of the Illinois con testants in convention

The committee on permanent organization reported the name of Geo. F. Hoar for president. Conkling's Desire for Adjournment.

In his speech in favor of taking recess until night, Conkling said that the only work the convention would do before five o'clock would be to sit on uncushioned seats and do nothing; his motion therefore was one of convenience; it was an open secret that the committee on permanent organization would report the continuance of the present presiding officer in the chair. It would not take five minutes to settle the permanent organization. There were important questions to be settled here; it is said that the committee on rules have agreed to recommend the adoption of the five minutes rule to govern the general, debate, though the committee have excepted from this limitation the debate on contested seats. There was, therefore, nothing to do prior to the presentation of the report of the committee on credentials and contest-

Hale's Reply. Hale, on rising to reply, was received with the wildest applause that has thus far been heard in the convention. He urged that if Conkling's argument was sound and its points adopted in every legislative body, suspending all business until all contested questions of seats should be settled, none would ever do any business.
